BOB FITZSIMMONS TELLS HOW THE LATE GUS RUHLIN CURED HIM OF MALARIA

Once Greatest of Fighters Declares He Never Got Worse Beating Than Akron Giant Gave Him, and Says Posing for Moving Pictures Was More Fierce Than Fight.

OB FITZSIMMONS, who was once the greatest fighter, bar none, in all wide world, admits that at last be is through. but what I could still fight men of my own weight," said

Bob yesterday, when he dropped in on me, suit case in hand, about to start for Detroit to elevate the "drammer," In that Western centre. Not but what I could Mck the middleweights-but fighting middleweights after all the great men I've fought would be like going back to soup after the dessert." "Yes," Bob went on, "I've seen some funny things in the ring, fighting Jeff and all the big fellows. It queer for me to be going along, all healthy and fine, and so many of the men I used to fight dropping off. Gus Ruhlin is gone now. Tobacco heart! That's what got Gus. He smoked and chewed all the time. It's burt his heart for years. I guess that's what made fighting. He was a young fellow. When he quit all training and so fat I knew he'd drop some day.

"You can get him, Bob," whispered ween, and I made up my mind to get him or go down trying. I went straight to him, and as soon as I reached him I et my right go, easy, and as Gus pulled back I shifted and sunk my left into his body with my whole weight behind it. Que sunk down to his knose,

"Oh, that hurt you. did it?" I said, and Gus got up slowly. I was waiting for him, still with my right foot shifted to the front and with my left ready to start another solar plexus blow, but for a million dollars I couldn't have moved my left arm an inch. I was so near all la. I'd put my last ounce in the punch that dropped him. Gus stood me off and got stronger and his speed came back and he jabbed me. I got a little stronger, and every time I hit he went down. I wasn't wasting any punches. The end came when I started a right (Que was always afraid of my right)

The Federal Government has been making scientific efforts toward the restablishment of standard breeds in New England and I would be glad to have your opinion as to the best method of stimulating the interest of and coperation by the breeders of this State toward the improvement of this important branch of animal husbandry.

If in your opinion it will be necessary to expend any moneys in addition to the regular budget of your department in order to take up this question I shall be slad to have you submit an estimate as to the probable cost of such investigation looking to the introduction of such an item in the appropriation and supply bilis. This seems to be a matter which your department can well take up to the great advantage of all concerned, and I hope that you will be able to give me a report in the matter at an early date.
